Mammoth Coal Development Project Aim of Henry Ford Through Kentucky Purchase

Will Supply All Its Own Industries and Have Surplus for Sale.

OWNER OF 165,000 ACRES

Scheme of Automobile Manufacturer Provides for Great Output Within Year; Residue After Gas Is Removed Intended for Domestic Fuel.

By Associated Press. DETROIT, March 23.—Official confirmation today at the office of Henry Ford at Dearborn that the automobile manufacturer had purchased 165,000 acres of undeveloped coal land in Kentucky was coupled with the statement that Mr. Ford intended to solve the country's coal problem "by using every piece of coal twice."

By purchase of the property it was officially announced that the Ford Motor Co. comes into possession of a vast tract of virgin coal lands with a reserve coal supply of 500,000,000 tons. This property added to other coal lands previously purchased brings the total number of acres owned by the manufacturer to 165,000.

From these holdings, Mr. Ford hopes that within a year he will be ready to supply all his factories in every part of the country, all the factories and mills making various products of his own concerns, as many of the industries in this district as care to buy coal and have fuel sufficient to supply a part of the domestic demand of the country. Mr. Ford, it was announced, will ask all industrial users to install furnaces that will consume only the gas and similar substances, leaving a fuel for domestic purposes. This under this process would be used to heat the homes of hundreds of thousands of workers. The fuel remaining after the gas had been taken out would be even more valuable for home heating than it was before, it was explained.

LLOYD U. DICK, BANKER, DIES AT GREENSBURG

GREENSBURG, March 23.—Lloyd U. Dick, banker, died at his home, West Newton avenue, Thursday afternoon from a complication of diseases. Mr. Dick had been in ill health for several months. He is survived by his mother, Mrs. David M. Dick, of Colorado; two brothers, Mungo M. Dick of Colorado and James A. Dick of El Paso, Tex.; and two sisters, Mrs. Laura Shanks of Indiana, and Mrs. Miss Martha W. Dick, residing with her mother in Colorado. Three children, Miss Anna L. Dick, Miss Irene and Miss Eleanor Dick, and a widow Mrs. Pauline N. Dick.

Mr. Dick had been a resident of Greensburg since 1909 when he was elected county treasurer. He looked after the finances of the county during the years 1909, 1910 and 1911.

Prior to coming to Greensburg Mr. Dick with his family had resided at West Newton, where he was in the banking business. After his term of office as county treasurer had expired Mr. Dick was instrumental in organizing the First National Bank at Greensburg, of which he was cashier until his death.

PATRIOTIC PAGEANT IN M. E. SERVICES

A patriotic pageant of boys and girls will be the leading feature at the opening tonight of the evangelistic service to be held by the First Methodist Episcopal Church in the Francis Cameron School Auditorium. The procession will be led by the drummer boy, and the program, which is very short, contains some beautiful singing and surtitles.

It is "Home and Family Night" and high school night. Parents and children are requested to sit together. Dr. C. L. Cartwright's subject will be "The Home and the Family." The largest attendance for the week is expected this evening, and there will be a great program for Sunday will be announced tomorrow.

Robbins, Jr., of Pittsburgh will speak.

NUMBER OF THIRD WEEK CRIMINAL CASES CONTINUED

The third week of the March term of criminal court in Connellsville came to a close yesterday afternoon when cases scheduled for trial today were either continued or pleas of guilty were entered. The case of Anthony H. Cowan, charged with embezzlement and fraudulent conversion, listed for trial yesterday, was continued until the next term of court owing to illness of George Woodhull, auditor, who examined the books of the Uniontown Grocery Company. A physician's certificate was offered showing that Mr. Woodhull is suffering with influenza.

The cases of W. M. McKinnis and E. V. Dowker, charged with libel listed for trial next Monday, were also continued owing to the fact that their counsel, Attorneys J. W. Dawson and T. H. Hudson, have been subpoenaed for service in the federal court at Philadelphia next Monday.

Lawrence Roadman of Measmore, was convicted on charges of violating the automobile laws but acquitted on charges of assault and battery by a jury yesterday afternoon. He was charged with striking Joseph McGinnis with his automobile and then failing to render assistance. McGinnis resides in the East End, Uniontown. When struck by the car McGinnis suffered bruises and lacerations. He charged that the defendant did not offer assistance.

Survey of Coal Industry Begun In Local Region

By Associated Press. PITTSBURGH, March 23.—A survey of the coal industry in Western Pennsylvania and Ohio with particular reference to the causes of labor friction and strikes was begun today by a group of experts named by the United States Coal Commission.

Individual members of the group planned to make trips to coal centers in the Pittsburgh district and all information collected will be incorporated into a group report. It was expected a week would be required to complete the work.

Pinchot Urges More Uniform Control of Automobile Traffic

By Associated Press. HARRISBURG, March 23.—State highway commissioners and representatives of a number of states were here today for the opening of a conference on road construction called by Governor Pinchot and State Highway Commissioner Paul D. Wright. The conference is to continue today and tomorrow.

Standardization in road work-outlines plans of road construction, maintenance and cost is the main purpose of the conference, out of which also may result a definite highway program for Pennsylvania.

More uniform traffic regulations, better enforced, were urged by Governor Pinchot as a means of reducing the number of killings from automobiles on public highways.

He asserted there are too many ignorant, too many unskilled and too many reckless drivers on the highways. With the fourth largest registration of motor vehicles in the union, a total of about 830,000 we need better traffic control. It is one of our greatest problems.

Citing the number of deaths, 1,757, from automobile accidents in Pennsylvania last year he said the best figures he could find indicated that during the year more than 11,000 persons were killed and some 12,000 injured in the United States while more than $1,000,000,000 in value was destroyed.

"We must do whatever is necessary to stop this slaughter," he declared. "The people of America have suffered too long from needless, senseless killings by reckless, incompetent and drunken drivers. I for one propose to use the power I have, not only to protect, but to prevent it."

FRANCE MUST QUIT RUHR BEFORE PEACE PARLEY, CUNO SAYS

"Unconditional Evacuation" Held to Be Fundamental Condition.

By Associated Press. YONK, March 23.—There is a marked lack of discipline in the average Sunday school and too many people use it as a medium for the spreading of gossip, Prof. C. B. Hinely, principal of the York High School, told a gathering of the United Brethren ministers of York and York county.

Prof. Hinely directed his criticism at three points: The lack of discipline and its effect upon the school; the training of teachers, and the manner in which the lesson is taught. In talking of the lack of discipline he said the great amount of buzzing and disorder coming from all classes in Sunday schools is caused by many mistakes in the selection for a place in which to spread gossip and talk over occurrences of the week, which in many cases do not fit in with the purposes of the school.

As a correction of these troubles Prof. Hinely suggested the Sunday school session be conducted more on the principle of the public school session.

EMPLOYEES FROM ALL OVER REGION AT W. P. MEETING

One of the most successful meetings arranged by the West Penn Engineers' Club was held last night in Macabees Hall. Approximately 150 persons from all over the system were present. Following an interesting program a smoker was held and refreshments served.

H. W. McRobbie, superintendent of substations in Territory A, spoke on "Home Central of Electrical Apparatus Over Telephone Wires," and Harry Restorick, safety director of Pittsburgh made a talk on "Our Safety Campaign." James McFall, also of Pittsburgh spoke in the interest of the N. E. L. A.

Employees of the company from Uniontown, Scotland, Greensburg, Latrobe, Irwin and Charleroi were present. The committee in charge was composed of H. W. McRobbie, William A. C. C. Gallagher and P. T. Komer.

United Presbyterian Attendance Grows

The service in the United Presbyterian Church are growing in attendance and interest. A fine audience was out to hear the message of Rev. J. H. Daudet last night, despite the rain. The long service under the direction of J. H. Daudet was a feature much enjoyed.

Rev. Daudet spoke on "The Church's Invitation." He took for his text the invitation Moses gave to Balaam, "Come thou with us and we will do thee good." He showed what was involved in this invitation and how it offered a place in worship and righteousness and in religious fellowship and in the constructive program God had given to Israel. He also pointed out that Moses knew what it meant to make a great decision and turn his back on the things of the world for God.

The speaker then dwelt upon what is involved in the church's invitation, it offers worship, fellowship, righteousness and a place in Kingdom, he said.

Tonight Rev. Daudet will preach on "Dwellers in the Half-Way House." This will be young people's night. It will also be Rev. Daudet's last message.

Rockwood Boy Shot Through the Nose

ROCKWOOD, March 23.—Alexander Olier, 18 years old, a son of Mrs. Noah Mitchell, was accidentally shot through the fleshy part of the nose at the Mitchell home between Casselman and Marlinton, by a .38 caliber revolver in the hands of his brother, Harry Olier.

The boys took the revolver, which they thought contained no loads, from the wall where it had been accustomed to hang. It was discharged, the bullet striking young Olier in the face, entering at the right side and coming out at the left, without touching either the bones of his face or his nose.

NOT TAKING INITIATIVE

Mediation by Third Party Not Authorized by German Government; Chancellor Assoy's Numerous Feathers Unabridged, Have Come to Him.

By Associated Press. MUNICH, March 23.—Unconditional evacuation of the Ruhr is designated by Chancellor Cuno as the fundamental premise from which any discussion seeking to end the present conflict must proceed.

In a long speech last night the chancellor reiterated the government's position, asserting it had not authorized mediation by any third party but that on the other hand it had received numerous feelers from unauthorized quarters.

The premier asserted these proposals constituted a "violation of German honor and common sense."

ADAM OHLER DIES OF PNEUMONIA AT HOME AT BEAR RUN

Adam Ohler, 59 years old, farmer and contractor of Bear Run, died Thursday at his home near Bear Run of pneumonia, after an illness of four weeks. Mr. Ohler had lived the greater part of his life in the Bear Run community. He was born in 1863 in Sweden. He was a son of Joseph and Charlotte Philipp Ohler. At the Theatres

THE PARAMOUNT.

"CROSSROADS," featuring Franklyn Farnum, is the leading attraction today and tomorrow at this theatre. During the action of this exciting story, a fast ride was required of Peggy O'Day, who plays the heroine's role. She executed the director's fondest wishes. Wanting to make the ride as sensational as possible, Miss O'Day, in one of the scenes, bounded her horse straight for the camera, with the intention of pulling the horse to one side just as he reached the camera. Her intentions were good, but the horse did not grasp them, with the result that when she pulled the horse to one side, he ignored the rein and kept straight ahead! A crash, and Miss O'Day went straight over the horse's head and alighted in a clump of bushes.

THE SOISSON.

"WITHOUT COMPROMISE," showing today at this theatre, features William Farnum, popular Fox star, in the stellar role. "Without Compromise" is one of those red-blooded, human stories of a frontier town, in which Farnum is cast as a sheriff who has his hands full with the primitive roughnecks, and also fights a bad gang of crooked politicians to a standstill. He captures the murderer of his foster-father after a terrible hand-to-hand battle in a cave, and then holds a lynch mob at bay single-handed. Lela Wilson plays opposite Farnum. Others in an excellent cast include: Ole Harlan, Robert Melton, Tully Marshall, Fred Kohler and Alma Danvers.

Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday Constantine Talmadge will be seen in "East is West." The picture is in eight reels and is filled with romance. It is the first big dramatic presentation which Miss Talmadge has ever undertaken.

THE ORPHEUM.

"THE PRIDE OF PALOMAR," Victor B. Klyn's romance of Southern California, provides splendid entertainment today and tomorrow at this theatre. To reveal the story approaches the superfluous. Briefly, it tells of a young Californian, Don Mike Farrell—half-Indian, half-Spanish—who returns from army service in Siberia to find that his father is dead and the Farrell ranch in the hands of strangers, one of whom all but murders Don Mike. The young Don Mike then the ranch has been practically been bought by Mr. Parker, father of the girl with whom he has fallen in love. The Don has a chance of retaining the ranch if he can secure a large sum of money. This, however, seems almost impossible to do, for Parker announces that he will fight Don Mike to a finish for possession of the ranch. Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday "Kick-Lo," a Paramount picture, will be presented.

Diamond Dyes

Buy "Diamond Dyes"—no other kind—and follow the simple directions in every package. Don't wonder whether you can dye or not successfully, because perfect home dyeing is guaranteed with Diamond Dyes even if you have never dyed before. Just tell your druggist whether the material you wish to dye is wool or silk, or whether it is linen, cotton, or mixed goods. Diamond Dyes never streak, spot, fade, or run.—Advertisement.

APPLY SULPHUR ON YOUR ECZEMA SKIN

Cuts Little and Overcomes Trouble Almost Over Night.

Any breaking out of the skin, even itchy, itching, eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying Mentho-Sulphur, declares a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation instantly brings ease from skin irritation, soothes and heals the eczema right up and leaves the skin clear and smooth.

It seldom fails to relieve torment without delay. Sufferers from skin trouble should obtain a small jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like cold cream.—Advertisement.

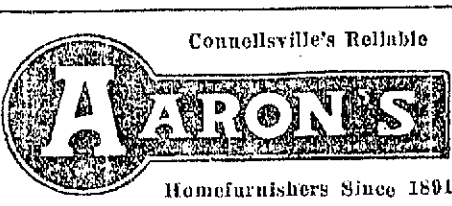

The Best Medicine For Women. When Mr. Myers of Winston-Salem, North Carolina, stepped into the drug store and asked his druggist for the best medicine he had in his store for women's skin trouble, he was handed a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Mrs. L. K. Myers in writing of it says: "I had been weak, run down and had a pain in my left side for a long time, so I couldn't do any work. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helped me in a short time and I was able to do all of my house-work including washing and ironing, and now I feel like all over new." As Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound holds the record for benefiting 35 women out of every 100 women who take it, it will pay every suffering woman to try it.—Advertisement.

COMPLETING THE BROAD FORD ROAD IMPROVEMENT.

The very modest request the people in the Narrows district are making of the county commissioners, to provide for clearing the gap in the Broad Ford road between the city line, ought to be, and it is believed will be, granted without hesitation or delay.

With less than a mile to construct the road from the city line to the Narrows, the county commissioners will have the benefits and advantages which, on account of the almost impassable gap from the city, are in a sense denied them. So long as this road is in its present condition the improvement already made is only purely local to the section traversed. When the road is completed, the advantage they have in traveling over the improved part of the road, of more than offset by the discomfort of having to plough through the mud of the last lap of the journey. At the same time the children attending the Narrows school would have to wade and slush and arrive at their destination with their feet wet, and a condition which makes it difficult for them to get their best work as pupils.

Completion of this road will give Conneltsville another improved highway as a means of country which is a part of the trading district, surrounding the city. Even at the present time the road is a means of access to the west and the south, the Mount Pleasant road to the east and the Broad Ford road to the north. By way of contrast Uniontown now has eight highways radiating out into all parts of the county. To the people of the Narrows, the road is an inalienable and unfair distribution of highway facilities, and the industrial and agricultural development in the respective communities.

These and other considerations ought to move the county commissioners to grant the request, in granting the request of the very worthy, patient and long-suffering citizens who have had to so long endure the inconvenience from which they now ask to be relieved.

DEVELOPMENTS IN COKE MAKING

The development of a new process of retort cooling and the recovery of the volatile hydrocarbons in coal, which with a Conneltsville man is associated, does not mean the elimination of the by-product oven as a factor in the manufacture of metallurgical fuel.

The new type of oven is an advance in the art, just as the machine equipped "pusher" oven is an improvement over the primitive hand drawn beehive oven. The latest type is, however, intended to and does have a wider range of application than the by-product oven which has been known to be the leader in coke production. It operates on the principle of low temperature carbonization, which, in the experience of inventors, is the method by which the volatile gases can be recovered. When applied to the higher grade coals the process makes possible the recovery of more of the volatiles and the subsequent refinement under their subsequent treatment, the treatment of the gas which has not been of oil states, to which the high temperature destructive distillation process is not applicable, the process appears to have the greatest importance in that it provides an agency by means of which the crude oil supply of the country can be augmented.

The by-product oven has not supplanted the beehive but it has checked the building of the latter type. Being adapted to the use of different grades of coal which can be assembled at a central plant and mixed, after the by-product oven has been mixed at blast furnaces, the by-product oven has a distinct advantage over the beehive in the matter of a practically unlimited source of raw material. For this reason and because the by-product process yields large quantities of gas which can be utilized in blast furnace operations, the development and expansion of this type of oven has been so rapid that it has outstripped the beehive to the extent of producing 75 per cent of all manufactured metallurgical fuel, as

Anniversary of "Home, Sweet Home"

It is doubtful if a more popular song was ever written by an American than "Home, Sweet Home," which will be 100 years old on May 31 next. That is the date on which it was first sung in public a century ago.

There is reason why this song has become so popular. While it was written by an American, the music was composed by an Englishman. The great strength of this song lies in the fact that it makes an appeal to the native of every land. It is a song of the heart, and its wonderful development in song and music, have not served to weaken the popularity of the song.

There is no present that there will be a world-wide celebration of the centennial of this song, but the recital of the more fact that it is 100 years old will be sufficient to induce vocalists and instrumentalists to give it rendition in homes and at public entertainments.

SUGAR A FOOD, NOT MERELY A FLAVORING; IS BETTER THAN BEEF

An Important Article in the Diet of Children Not Injurious to Their Teeth, Real "Staff of Life".
A contention which for many years has been held by scientists alone is gradually becoming a matter of common recognition with informed housekeepers. It is that sugar, which was long regarded merely as a condiment or flavoring, is as much a food as meat, beef, and really more valuable.

It took time to win this recognition. For one reason sugar was not always so plentiful and cheap as at present. For another it was regarded as a luxury to be used only on special feast days. At the same time it was considered to be valuable as a medicine, and in Spain a saying arose concerning it: "Like an apothecary without sugar."

regard for sugar as a medicine was not an absurdity. The doctors have been the first, even in modern days, to proclaim the virtues of sugar as a food.

Robert Hutchison in his "Food and the Principles of Dietetics" writes: "Sugar is one of the most important forms in which carbohydrates can be added to the diet of children. The great reduction in the price of sugar which has taken place in recent years is probably one of the causes of the improved physique of the rising generation. The fear that sugar may induce children's teeth is largely unfounded. The negroes, who live largely on sugar cane have the finest teeth the world can show."

Chemists have pronounced time and again on the high value of sugar as a heat and energy producing food. Dr. Woods Hutchison, who has written much on the diet, goes so far as to say that sugar, and not bread, is really the "Staff of Life."

The chief value in fruits such as apples, grapes, pineapples and so on which are considered especially is due almost entirely to their sugar content. An average of four ounces a day has been recommended as advantageous by Professor Harry Snyder of the University of Minnesota, who has written a book on the nutritive value of human foods.

Old Aunt Sally enjoyed a wide reputation among her acquaintance in Virginia for all the household virtues. She was as neat as the proverbial pin. Once, however, in order to sustain that reputation, she admitted something to the option.

A neighbor in passing discovered Aunt Sally industriously scrubbing her piazza floor and sought an explanation.

"Well," said Aunt Sally, "I kind thought of folks see this dirty place there 'n' bid 'em 'bout how I kitchen looks today."

The fact that the average American family today consumes more sugar than the family of 1920 is one of several important factors which have contributed to the recent spectacular advance in quotations of both raw and refined grades of sugar. Consumption figures compiled by the U. S. Bureau of Census show how markedly the trend has been upward during the last three years.

In 1920 America's consumption of sugar was 1,101,161 short tons; in 1921, 1,310,353 tons, and in 1922, 1,458,725, or it mounted into figures of one ton per capita, not only, the amount of sugar eaten by every man, woman and child in the country averaged during 1922 101½ pounds, in 1923 104 pounds and 105½ in 1924.

In the same period, American exports had also increased, the 1922 figures having doubled the export figures of 1920 and 1921. In 1920, exports of refined sugar totaled 401,648 tons; in 1921, 498,887, and in 1922, 520,074. This movement is of particular interest because it shows that the American refiner is in a better position today to compete with foreign refiners in the world market than he was even a short time back in 1921. Much of this volume of export trade went to Europe, and smaller portions found their way to the ports of Japan, China, South America, Australia, Africa and the numerous islands scattered throughout the Atlantic and Pacific oceans. Compared with the years before the war, 1922 export figures stand out especially strongly, the average export volume prior to 1914 having been only 40,000 to 50,000 tons.

Cause of the Increase.
This remarkable increase is due to the absence of Germany and Austria-Hungary as competitors for foreign trade, crops of both countries having been largely bought by Great Britain prior to the World War but, subsequent to 1914, production has fallen off in those countries until it now serves for almost purely domestic business only. The prospect of increased production in 1923 is not bright, either, although it is likely that there will be a gradual increase in shipments from other nations of interior Europe.

As a result of continued heavy consumption, coupled with little increase in the prospective world sugar supply for 1923, an advance in sugar prices could be expected, but the advance in the last few weeks has accelerated at such a pace that practically all interest in the sugar trade, producers as well as refiners, are beginning to question whether it has not been too rapid to prove profitable. If the market has left entirely alone in the hands of supply and demand, they declare, the situation will promptly correct itself; but evidence has not been lacking that persons with a speculative bent have been getting into the market also, thus intensifying the situation.

Household consumers have, however, shown little inclination of being stampeded into hoarding sugar, sugar to care for the future is a matter of speculation, but nevertheless effective in temporarily boosting prices. Some of the latest refiners have cautioned against such a policy on the part of the sugar consumer, but their efforts were somewhat embarrassed by the interpretation placed on the recent statement of the Department of Commerce which indicated that an actual shortage was in sight. Refiners emphatically insisted that a shortage is not in sight, and that the reaction of consumers would in itself tend to check overconsumption.

High Price Checks Demand.
"A person who can buy sugar at five cents a pound will not hesitate to use it liberally," one authority on sugar conditions explained, "but if the price is marked up to ten cents a pound or fifteen cents a pound the buyer will naturally become more careful, making one point or two points difference before. Thus a perfectly natural check is put on consumption, and with less consumption to contend with the price naturally tends to lower levels."

For that reason refiners hope for easier conditions before the year is ended. Their efforts, however, to hold prices down have thus far proved futile, although several large refiners have at times withdrawn from the market. An explanation of this situation lies in the fact that at the start of the new year there was the usual seasonal dullness in the sugar trade, and refiners, in an effort to attract business, set prices at a comparatively low level. As a result, an unusually strong demand sprang up, both here and abroad, and in a few weeks' time this demand had moved the quotation on Cuban raw sugar up to five cents a pound of two cents in a month and refined grades moved up to ten cents.

These Sketches Show Trend of Authentic Easter Fashions!

YOU MAY not find the identical garments pictured in our stocks—but you will find plenty of garments similar to them. The jacquette effect, pictured above—the pleated panels and sleeves, smart two-button jacket, and side-fastened coat pictured below—are well represented, in some variation or other, in our fashion collection. And it's been a long, long time since you've been invited to see modes anywhere near as becoming and distinctive!

Graceful Capes

lead in Easter favor

$24.50 to $112.50

PARIS says "Capes"—Fifth Avenue says "Capes"—so capes it shall be for Easter.

This collection of ours is more than likely as varied and attractive as any in the entire District—offering, as it does, only the more graceful styles and ravishing materials. And a price range which assures a cape to meet the demands of any clothing budget.

The shades are Arabia, Grey, Black, Kit Fox and Batwing. Fur-trimmed models choose caracul and platinum collars.

One of the nicest modes comes in Velvety. Its slender effect is heightened by a new semi-shawl collar, lined in gaily printed silk—at $59.50.

Apparel Section—Second Floor.

Sport Coats

Are $25 to $85

THIS comprehensive price range assures every woman who has decided upon a sport coat for Easter wear that she can find one here—at just about any amount she has decided to pay. Styles are tremendously comfortable and snuggly. Many a coat owes its charm to the bold overplaid in its fabric pattern. Some of the newest modes are in real Camel's Hair.

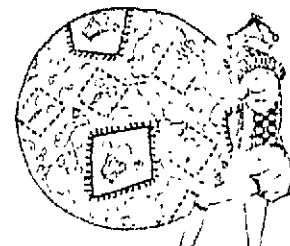

Alluring Frocks

$19.75 to $85.00

THE BEAUTY and variety of our Easter frock collection is the wonder of all who behold it. Mountain Haze (Spring's favorite color) tiered and pleated skirts—new Printed Crepes—and a score of other deep delights—are to be found in it. It will be very easy to find a frock to glorify your Easter Day!

If Folks Can Realize the Values We're Giving in These Silks—We'll Sell Them All Tomorrow!

APPROXIMATELY 500 yards of silk are offered in this selling. The important thing to remember is that every yard is fresh and new—and that these are silks of exceptionally fine quality. Once you've seen them, it will require but very little imagination to picture the stunning Easter frocks that they will make.

Activity in Coke Has Shifted From Second Quarter Contract To Prompt Market for Export

Upwards of 100,000 Tons Understood to Have Been Sold for Shipment.

MARKET IS LESS ACTIVE

Although One Contract for 10,000 Tons (See Through Above $7.50, Which Is Present Minimum: $7.75 Being Asked; Foundry in Moderate Demand.

Special to The Weekly Courier.

PITTSBURGH, March 21.—Activity in coke has shifted from the second quarter contract market to the prompt market for export.

There have been very few export contracts in the past week and there is inquiry now pending.

A careful estimate in the trade indicates that between 75,000 and 100,000 tons of coke has been sold for export in this movement, which had its first beginning some three or four weeks ago and has grown sharply in volume.

The bulk of the coke comes from the Connellsville region, probably in excess of 60,000 tons.

The direct export sales were made by large operators, who in turn bought a number of lots in the open market.

Complete cargoes, of course, represented quite a number, but these were little below $7.25 and little above $7.50 in this trading.

The movement was so substantial that some operators concluded much higher prices were going to rule, and selling prices in some cases have risen to $8.00.

While the actual trading has been at a much lower average it is quite possible that this price or an even higher one may eventually be obtained.

There has also been heavy export demand for coal of late, but not a great deal of coal has moved from the Pittsburgh or Connellsville districts.

It has been reported that the British and French governments bought 500,000 tons of Pocahontas coal for practically immediate export, while there is some inquiry in the market that calls for delivery over periods of months.

The market for Connellsville coke or consumption at home has not been notably inactive, as there has been a moderate movement in prompt lots, and a merchant furnace in the Meadown Valley has contracted for 10,000 tons a month over the second quarter.

The price is understood to have been a trifle above $7.50, which is now regarded as the minimum of the second quarter contract market, but the money that $7.75 was paid is discredited in well informed coke circles.

This is the only second quarter contract summary done since The Courier's summary of a week ago, showing about 500,000 tons a month put under contract for the second quarter, so that the total now is about 310,000 tons.

This tonnage is fully authenticated as to the points of consumption. Most of the tonnage begins April 1.

A portion is moving now in two or three lots, and the balance is not now in until about April 15 and in one case the furnace goes in May 1.

The average price on the entire tonnage was probably about $7.50, but was under $7.15. The minimum of the market now seems to be $7.25, with some operators asking $7.75 and fully expecting to secure the price if much more demand should develop.

An inquiry for 15,000 tons a month has just appeared, from an interest which had already placed two contracts early in the movement, one for 10,000 tons a month and the other for 5,000 tons a month.

The spot furnace coke market is not closely quotable, since the exigencies of making up cargoes cause quite a variety of prices to be paid sometimes. A cargo may be made up chiefly of coke at one price, and a much higher price be paid for a relatively small tonnage to round out, needed for positive shipment by a certain date.

On another day there may be little inquiry for spot or prompt coke, or inquiry only from furnaces that have their own price limits. Generally speaking the market is quotable as follows, based on current asking prices rather than on the average price at which the tonnage of the past week has been sold:

Prompt furnace $7.50 to $7.75
Best furnace $7.50 to $7.75
Prompt foundry $7.25 to $7.50
Foundry coke has hardly given as good an account of itself as might be expected, considering the activity in furnace coke and the advance in prices.

There has been only a moderate demand for foundry coke and this has generally been satisfied within the old price range of $8.25 to $8.75, but there are rumors of $9.00 having been paid on one or two occasions, when the consumer insisted on securing a certain brand.

The by-product road market is very strong as to the future, while there is only a limited spot demand, resulting in quite a range of prices. With some operators there is not exactly a range, for there are actually operating with such a view as to the future of coal prices that they will not sell even for second quarter at any flat price at Philip Eckel.

All their proposals to prospective buyers is to fix a monthly tonnage for the three months, set a price of $3.30 on the April shipments, and adjust prices later for May and June. Spot and prompt lots generally go at considerably lower prices. As to steam coal contracts for the Pittsburgh district, nothing is being done. A number of consumers would be quite ready to enter into contracts at the present time for the coal year, to April 1, 1924, and would willingly pay an advance over the present spot market, which is about $2.50 for Pittsburgh steam run, but operators are unwilling to quote contract prices at all. Usually by this date much of the coal for the coal year has been done. Operators are uncertain about prices to rule in future and are also uncertain about coal supplies, so that they prefer to take their chances.

The iron has continued to stiffen to practically all markets and some advances have occurred. In the Valley market Resener has advanced $1 to the past week, on a sale of 2,000 tons at $31. Valley basic and foundry are both in line for advances from their $20 quotation of a week ago, and there are even rumors that advances have been paid in some instances.

Furnaces have higher asking prices, and would require only a little actual buying to get prices at higher levels. It is now regarded as practically certain that Lake Superior iron ore prices for the 1923 season will be at an advance of 30 cents over the 1922 schedule, restoring the 1922 schedule, which was $1 a ton under the 1920 level, the highest for more than a generation. This would make Mesabi non-Bessemer $3.55, f. o. b. Lake Erie docks, for this coming season. Pig iron is quotable as follows, largely nominal, with prospects of higher prices in actual transactions.

Bessemer $31.00
Basic $30.00
Foundry $30.00
Miscellaneous $30.00

These prices are f. o. b. Valley furnaces, freight to Pittsburgh being $1.75.

DECISION BARS HINDU; NOT FREE WHITE PERSON

Supreme Court Ruling Follows Usage as to Meaning of Words "White Person."

A Hindu cannot become an American citizen under a ruling made by the Supreme court.

According to the decision, a Hindu is not a "free white person" within the meaning of the naturalization law, and, therefore, under the recent decision of the court excluding Japanese from naturalization, is not entitled to citizenship.

The court ruled that the words "white person" must be given the meaning they have in common usage, and are not to be construed by a scientific study determining whether the persons affected descended from white stock, and also conceding that the term "Caucasian" is a conventional word of much flexibility.

The decision was on an appeal brought by the United States against Ghagat Singh Thind, a high caste native of India, born in the Punjab, who entered the United States prior to the passage of the exclusion act of 1917, and to whom a certificate of citizenship was issued by the United States District court for Oregon.

U. S. Webb, attorney general of California, says that the decision of the United States Supreme court holding that high caste Hindus are not subject to citizenship places such residents in California under the anti-alien land law and affects large tracts of their actually owned and leased lands in the state.

Mr. Webb said that possible actions under the anti-alien land law "would be considered when the occasion arose."

While the Brahmins own some land in California, the greater amount of their land is controlled through "trusts," principally in the rice lands of the Sacramento valley.

Birds Rid Cattle of Parasites. The oxpecker, a bird inhabiting the dark continent, is so called from its fondness for being around domestic and other cattle, which it rids of various parasites. It is said that it actually eats large holes in the fleshy parts of the backs of cattle, often one or two inches deep, and two or three inches in diameter, thus creating bad sores. It does this little by little, and day by day, attacking just that part of the back where the ox cannot swish it off with its tail or shake it with its horns. The bird is a pest to the hunter, of whose approach it warns the buffalo and rhinoceros by its loud, harsh note, which is perfectly understood by its huge friends.

Jack Frost's Delays. An egg freezes when it is frozen and breaks its shell. Apples contract so much that a full barrel will shrink until the top layer is a foot below the rim. When the frost is drawn out the apples assume their normal size and fill the barrel again.

Certain varieties are not appreciably injured by being frozen. If the frost is drawn out gradually, apples are very safe in a refrigerator, while the mercury is registering 20 degrees below zero.

Potatoes, being so largely composed of water, are easily frozen. Once touched by frost they are ruined.

The Mysteries of Banking Going the Way of Other Puzzles

SOON there will not be much left to be puzzled about, at the rate the general public is being let into the secrets of things, and now along comes the American Bankers Association with a plan for taking the mystery out of banking. Through its Committee on Public Education it is giving a series of lectures in the schools throughout the country and publishing a series of articles explaining just how and why banks work.

The first of these, which make mighty interesting reading, says: "The bank plays each an essential part in the life of every community that every one ought to have a clear conception of what it is and why it goes hand in hand with human progress. One of our large city bankers, whose boyhood had been spent in a small town, was recently telling some friends about his early ideas concerning banks. To his youthful mind, the town bank was merely a larger model of the small dime bank he kept at home. He believed that the larger bank was just a good, safe strongbox in which people could deposit their money. Each day the boy saw people leave their money in care of the bank, the duty of which he supposed to be the protection of the money until it was again needed, when the depositors could draw it out.

Very soon certain things began to puzzle this small boy, for he knew that the officers and clerks of the bank were drawing salaries. One day he asked his father some questions about the bank. The boy's first question was: "Father, if a man takes a hundred dollars to the bank today, can he go to the bank tomorrow and draw it all out again?" "Every cent of it," said the father. "Then," said the lad, "I want to know how a bank can make any money for itself, and pay salaries and other expenses." The father gave the following answer:

"When our bank was organized, the gentleman chosen as president, because he was one of our leading business men, asked me to buy some shares of stock at one hundred dollars each. I had hoped for a long time that a bank would be organized in our town. For years, the men who were operating the iron mills had been sending to a neighboring city for money to pay their employees. Our merchants had always had difficulty in taking care of the money received in their business, and they had been placing to care for the people's money. I was glad to buy some of the shares. In a short time, the president told me that fifty thousand dollars had been paid in by different people of the town buying shares. This money made up what is called the capital stock. The capital stock, in addition to furnishing money with which to start a bank, also serves as a protection to all those who place their money on deposit.

How Banks Operate. "The bank opened for business and soon deposits came in from merchants, manufacturing plants, farmers, churches, lodges and other organizations, lawyers and town ship treasurers, wage earners, and women and children, until at the end of the first month about one hundred thousand dollars had been deposited. The bank then had fifty thousand dollars applied by its stockholders and one hundred thousand dollars which belonged to its depositors, a total of one hundred and fifty thousand dollars. The capital stock and the deposits are referred to as liabilities of a bank.

"Now listen closely," continued the father. "While it is true that the depositors could go to the bank the very next day and draw out all they had previously put in, experience has shown that this is never done by all depositors at the same time. Therefore, the bank does not need to keep on hand all the money that is brought in, but only enough to pay those who may wish to draw out part, or all, of their deposits. Since every day people try to keep a fair-sized balance in the bank, there is always more money on hand than is needed to pay those who are drawing against their deposits. The law requires that the bank keep a certain percentage of the deposits in its vaults in actual cash. This cash is called the bank's reserve. At the end of the first month, let us say, the bank had in its safe, as reserve, about twenty thousand dollars. There should always be enough cash held by the bank to take care of the normal amounts of money needed by its customers.

How Banks Earn Money. "What does the bank do with its capital stock and with the balance of deposits in excess of the cash held as its reserve? Part of the money from the sale of shares of capital stock, of course, had to be spent for the bank building and its equipment, which cost about twenty thousand dollars. The balance of the capital stock would be thirty thousand dollars. The balance of the deposits in excess of the reserve at the end of the first month was eighty thousand dollars. This was one hundred and ten thousand dollars in all. It was invested or loaned out at interest to business people of good standing, who promised to repay the money to the bank in thirty, sixty, or ninety days. The interest on these loans and investments provided the earnings of the bank, out of which salaries and other expenses are paid. This practice of loaning money is called discounting, or giving credit. Credit is what the bank does. It is just as the merchant buys and sells goods, so the banker buys and sells money and credit.

"The assets of a bank, just as in the case of a store or other business, are the property owned by the bank. They are cash on hand, promissory notes representing the money loaned out at interest to borrowers, the bank building, and no fourth. In like manner the liabilities are what the bank owes to others, to the stockholders, to depositors and so forth. As the town grows and the business of the community expands, the deposits of the bank become larger and other banks or banks are needed to handle the great city banks become, they are all organized and conducted upon the same principle and for the same purpose as the bank in the small town.

Using Banks Helps Everybody. "Scarcely anywhere is there a financial transaction in which the bank does not have a direct or indirect part, either through the stockholders, the management, or the depositors. Every successful business person makes use of the bank for borrowing money, for the safekeeping of money and valuables, and in other ways. The wonderful strides our country has made in the field of commerce can be accounted for largely by the manner in which the banks have been made use of by the people. As anyone outlives the habit of saving and handles savings, and all other transactions through the bank, he is doing a real help to his community, because the bank is the reservoir into which flow the savings of the people of the community, to be used by the banker in helping to develop the industry and life of an ever-growing nation. The bank helps the people to succeed, and the community to progress."

Have Bulldog Mascots

It is a lucky thing that the mascots representing various colleges have a chance to do a little battling of their own. In looking a football game for next fall with the University of Georgia, Yale has agreed to battle an institution that also calls its representatives "The Bulldogs." The contest will mark the first time the northern and southern branches of the "bulldog" family have ever had a chance to test their comparative superiority on a real gridiron.

SPITBALL PITCHERS ARE PASSING ALONG

Allan Sotheron of Cleveland Is Latest to Be Released.

Coveleski, Rod Faber, Urban Shooker and Jack Quinn, Are Named as Only Certain Ones to Start Campaign of 1923.

The sale of Pitcher Allan Sotheron, of the Cleveland club, to the minors, marks the passing of another spitball pitcher.

At the close of the American League season there were only six spitballs in the organization. The release of Sotheron cuts it to five. It is almost a certainty that before the opening of the season Allan Russell, of Boston, will have drifted back.

Stanley Coveleski, of Cleveland; Rod Faber, of Chicago; Urban Shooker, of St. Louis, and Jack Quinn are the four veterans certain to start the 1923 campaign.

Quinn hasn't a great many more years left. Coveleski, who is a spit-

Allan Sotheron.

ball pitcher almost exclusively, seemed to be slipping a bit last season. Faber, of Chicago, and Shooker, of St. Louis, would still be great pitchers if they eliminated the spitball entirely from their assortment. As a matter of fact, these two great pitchers use the spitball more as a bluff than anything else. They go to it in a pinch when they desire to slip a strike past the batsman.

It is doubtful if any of these pitchers will last more than five years, so that the entire elimination of the spitball is not far distant.

GOOD CURVE BALL PITCHERS

Joe McGinty Says Livelihood of Ball Has Nothing to Do With Effectiveness of Curve.

A gentleman who surely can qualify as an expert says the trouble is not with the make of the present day baseball but with the make-up of the man who pitches it. He is Joe McGinty, once side partner to Christy Mathewson.

"Pitchers nowadays don't know how to feel 'em any more," says the old-timer of the Giants.

"It doesn't make any difference whether the ball is lively or dead. If the pitcher can keep the batter from taking a fair and square crack at the ball the result will be a pop-up or a strike out. A curve ball will do that; but the supply of good curve ball pitchers is small.

"The last World's series showed that the liveliness of the ball has nothing to do with the case. There were some good hitters in that series, and there was a dearth of hitting. These fellows knew how to feel the hitters with curves."

TRADE THREE CALIFORNIANS

Herman, Blanke and Helling Are Sent to Boston Club in Exchange for Pratt.

It is a coincidence that the three players the Detroit club sends to the Boston Red Sox in exchange for Pratt and Gilling are California products. Herman and Blanke are from the suburbs of Los Angeles, while Helling hails from Oakland. What a nice little native son admiration society they will form.

GOLDSTONE BROS.

ST. CLAIR OILS PLAY TONIGHT AT SCOTSDALE

Strong Team From Canton,
Ohio, to Meet Legion
Post Outfit.

OTHER NEWS OF THE DAY

Special to The Courier.
SCOTSDALE, March 23.—Everything is ready for what is considered the big game of the season by basketball fans of Scottdale and vicinity, when the team of the American Legion will meet the St. Clair Oils from Canton, Ohio, at the Y. M. C. A. this evening. The Scottdale team has been in practice two weeks and the boys all feel as though they can play a game of basketball with these champions that will be worth while of the people interested in coming out to see.

Bird House Contest News.
The committee in charge of the bird house contest met and talked over the arrangements for the closing of the contest early in April. The committee reported on the work done by them and by next week details arrangements will be made concerning the line of entertainment to be offered, where the exhibition will be held and all of the details for the closing of this contest. Boys of Scottdale have never shown such interest in any public move before and the committee is more than pleased with the outcome. Judges will also be named at the next meeting.

Indiana Win.
The Scottdale Volleyball League played again last evening with the Indians defeating the Giants as follows:
Indians—9—15—15—15.
Giants—16—10—12—11—7.
Dixon Readings Close.
Dr. A. C. Dixon closed a very successful two-day meeting at the First Baptist Church, last evening. Each of the four audiences which heard him was more than impressed with his sermons, being of more than usual interest. Dr. Dixon, who had been ill with grip, preached here for the first time in three weeks.
Class Play.
The senior class of East Huntington Township High School will give its annual play at the Scottdale Theatre Monday evening. The play to be presented will be "Am I Intruding?" The seniors who will take part in the play are Alma March,

James Sidhammer, Harry Vance,
Hilda Nall, Andrew Orvitz, Mildred
Vance, Ross McMahon, Jennie Sabota,
Morton Bowman, Frances Slaughter,
James Brooks and Ruth Ritchie.

Confluence

CONFLUENCE, March 23.—Mrs.
Ruth Walker was called to Broad Ford on account of the sudden death of her mother-in-law, Mrs. Walker.

Mrs. Raymond Reynolds is reported quite ill at her home on the West Side.

Miss Emma Hileman of Somerset is ending at the home of Mr. and Mrs.
V. M. Black.

The High School play entitled,
"Home Game Ted," will be given in Sellers' Hall today.

Mrs. Paul Goller of Harnedville, who has been seriously ill at the Pratt Hospital for the past three weeks, is improving and will soon be able to be taken home.

Word has been received here of the death of Mrs. C. H. Stark's mother, Mrs. J. W. Holt, an aged resident of Chillicothe.

W. W. Frazer, who is now a health-nut on the main line of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, spent several hours with his family in the Therapeutic.

Mrs. Earle Burnworth of Johnson Shapel who is seriously ill, was brought to the Pratt Hospital for treatment.

Miss Mary Nodow, who had been living at Somerset for the past three weeks, has returned to her home here.

Wonderful for Sick Stomachs

That's what every stomach suffers says after taking one or two doses of
Dr. Stark's Great Stomach Prescription

Everyone who tries it will testify that it does cure indigestion, heartburn, and certainly biliousness, dyspepsia and other stomach distresses almost instantly.

Here's one letter that will give you an idea of how good it is:
"Wm. Stark, Rock Creek, Ohio suffered for years for several years with indigestion after eating so recent from doctors and many other means I was unable to work, and suffered a great deal. I was advised to try Dr. Stark's Great Stomach Prescription. I had no faith in any other remedy, but I tried it and it was a blessing. It did me good. I have been working every day in the last month, eating everything I want and in perfect health."

Write to Dr. Stark's Stomach
Prescription Co., 1111 Broadway, New York, for the name of the nearest dealer. A free trial can supply you with
